

Trade pact with US may get inked post Nov polls

The package is near-ready and can be finalized once US permits: Goyal

NEW DELHI

Trade minister Piyush Goyal on Tuesday hinted that the limited trade package under negotiation between India and the US may be signed only after the American presidential elections in November, even though the deal is nearly ready.

"I just had a conversation with (US trade representative) ambassador (Robert) Lighthizer. We both agreed that we can look at doing it before the election also, but otherwise soon after the election. The entire package is near-ready and can be finalized at any time the local political situation in the US permits them to. I am open to signing it tomorrow what we have agreed upon and I have left it to Bob (Lighthizer) to take a final call," Goyal said during a webinar organized by the US India Strategic Partnership Forum.

A limited trade package between India and the US is under negotiation since 2018 and is expected to cover tariff-related concessions for the US farm produce, especially dairy items, pricing of pharmaceuticals, such as stents and knee implants, and information and communication technology products. In return, Washington is expected to restore benefits accorded to Indian exporters under the Generalized System of Preferences (GSP), which were terminated by the US President Donald Trump. Both sides may also remove the tariff-for-tariff hikes after the US raised steel and aluminium tariffs on the grounds of national security.

Goyal said both sides lost valuable negotiating time due to the pandemic and lockdown in India. "Ideally, we could have announced it during the visit of the president in late February, but I suspect at that time there were a few dots and commas that still needed to be finalized. And soon thereafter we were all faced with covid. Ambassador Lighthizer was working out of home, we had one of the world's most severe lockdowns, and I suspect we lost valuable time during that period."

Goyal said the initial India-US trade deal could lay the foundation for negotiating a much more ambitious bilateral free trade agreement. "The architecture of the initial deal is in the best interest of businesses, both in the US and India. And, it is in the interest of both countries to deepen our strategic partnership with this immediate trade deal also, because it will open the doors to starting a dialogue on a larger bilateral engagement where we have much more elbow room since it is not on an MFN (most favoured nation) basis, and we do hope we can quickly move to the next phase of a larger engagement for a free trade agreement," he added.

India eyes supply chain initiative with Japan and Australia to counter China

Trade ministers of India, Australia, and Japan in a meeting on Tuesday decided to soon launch an initiative on supply chain resilience and invited like-minded countries in the Indo-Pacific region to join the initiative. The move aims to counter China's dominance of global trade and supply chains.

"Australia-India-Japan Ministers met for a new initiative on Supply Chain Resilience. Like minded nations are now working closely towards trustworthy, dependable and reliable supply chains in the Indo-Pacific region," trade minister Piyush Goyal tweeted on Tuesday.

The meeting held by videoconference was attended by Goyal, Australia's minister for trade, tourism, and investment Simon Birmingham, and Japan's minister of economy, trade and industry Kajiya Hiroshi.

In light of the covid-19 crisis and the recent global-scale changes in the economic and technological landscape, the ministers underscored the necessity and potential to enhance the resilience of supply chains in the Indo-Pacific region, according to a joint statement by the three countries. "Recognizing the pressing need for regional cooperation on supply chain resilience in the Indo-Pacific, the ministers shared their intention to work toward the launch of a new initiative to achieve the objective through cooperation. They instructed their officials to promptly work out the details of the new initiative for its launch later this year. They noted the important role of business and academia in realizing the objective," the statement added.

The initiative could not have come at a more opportune time in the post-covid scenario when there is a likelihood of "reclimbing of supply chains" in the Indo-Pacific region, Goyal said at the trilateral meeting.

"India endorses the broad concept of working towards ensuring a trustworthy, dependable and reliable supply chain in the Indo-Pacific region. The diversification of supply chain is critical for managing the risks associated with supply of inputs, including disciplining price volatility. We could provide the core pathway for linking value chains in the region by creating a network of reliable long-term supplies and appropriate capacities," he said.

Goyal described Australia, India and Japan as crucial players in the region and said that during 2019 the cumulative GDP of the three countries was $9.3 trillion while cumulative merchandise goods and services trade were $2.7 trillion and $0.9 trillion, respectively. "With such a strong baseline, it is important that we use this opportunity to work towards enhancing the share of our trade and investment in the region," he said. He stressed on the need to expand trade between the three countries, but pointed out that with Japan, despite India's global exports and Japanese global imports being high with zero preferential tariffs, the procurement from India was limited.

Goyal said that the digitization of trade procedures is a very important step for facilitating trade and maintaining resilience in supply chains.

Govt accuses Facebook of political bias in letter to CEO

2019 general elections in India, there was a concerted effort by Facebook India management to not just delete pages or substantially reduce their reach but also offer no recourse or right of appeal to affected people who are supportive of right-of-centre ideology. I am also aware that dozens of letters written to the Facebook management received no response," he said.

He added, "To respect the social, religious, cultural, linguistic diversity of India, Facebook should put in place country-specific community guidelines."

Legal experts said none of the digital platforms has country-specific community guidelines as users on these platforms are not restricted by geography—hence, the nature of content and sharing occurs globally. However, Facebook includes 'caste' as a protected group, while censoring hate speech on its platform.
